Dear Parents and Students,

We are almost in May...the last month of school. This means a lot of final school year activities, but before we wrap elementary school up and tie it with a bow, we need to take the Milestones. We will start the process and testing at 7:45 AM. We want the kids to do their best to end the school year strong and show the middle school what they can do. BUT we know each test is just a snapshot of that student's performance for that morning. It will not determine their outcome in life. Their journey is up to them and the wonderful love and support they receive each day from their family and friends.

So, Sunday night put them to bed for a good night's sleep, provide them breakfast Monday morning, and get them to school on time. After testing, they will have a little down time and we will continue with the remainder of our day. The class website <https://sbcecrewsnews.weebly.com/> has been updated for next week and the Milestones testing days.

Have a wonderful weekend.

Dear Parents and Students,

We have had a busy week back at school – eclipse, ropes course, our i-Ready reading diagnostic, and finally an evacuation drill to end the week. Next week should be a little more “normal”. See the website for Milestones dates at the end of the month. The class website <https://sbcecrewsnews.weebly.com/> has been updated for next week.

Have a wonderful weekend.
